DOUGLAS M. WINE

443-876-8584 ▪ douglas.wine52@gmail.com

Senior Law Enforcement Intelligence Analyst

EDUCATION & CREDENTIALS

Executive Protection Course – National Capital Region Law Enforcement Academy

Threat Assessment Training - Department of Homeland Security

Crime Prevention through Environmental Design Training (CPTED)

Healthcare Points of Distribution Security Assessments Course - Johns Hopkins University

Towson University – History Program

AWARDS & RECOGNITION

Bronze Star Medal for Valor

Multiple Law Enforcement Citations when assigned to Elite and Special Missions Units

PUBLIC SPEAKING

Mr. Wine speaks regularly on Faith-Based Organization Safety and is a recognized expert provider of Active Shooter Response Training for Houses of Worship.

Douglas Wine has over 28 years of professional law enforcement experience and is highly accomplished in the areas of threat assessments, criminal intelligence, and crime data analysis. He has worked for the last 16 years as a Detective in the National Capital Region in a prestigious Criminal Intelligence section and is a respected expert in the field. Additionally, he has worked the streets of Baltimore as a law enforcement officer and is knowledgeable about crime and practical crime reduction strategies.

As a consultant, Doug has served as the site senior security professional for initiatives for the U.S. Department of State and as the senior Liaison Officer to U.S. Customs and Border Protection Services. He has established a powerful rapport with decision-makers across the spectrum, whether internally or externally, throughout the community he serves. As such, he has been called upon to coordinate and provide VIP protection, investigate individual security threats, and mitigate hazards threatening city-wide targets.

His incisive acumen has provided him the opportunity to mentor peers and subordinates, as well as share his knowledge with every level of the police force including the Police Commissioner's office. Often, he was called upon to analyze data that came to the Watch Center and devise courses of action to be dispensed to various detective units for action. He has been part of the COMSTAT team and the social media unit where he participated in geo-fencing crime scenes and gathering information targeting criminals and gathering information from neighbors, friends, and families.

As part of a select cell of law enforcement intelligence analysts, Doug created a recurring law enforcement intelligence product: "The Daily Report". This exhaustive report collated, maintained, and distributed, as a daily briefing, information including all topics related to police work both on the statewide and national levels. This document was widely circulated and read by Baltimore Police decision-makers, city leaders, federal agencies, and leaders in surrounding jurisdictions.

During his time as a Detective, he has provided critical Infrastructure support that included creating databases to track high-profile targets, persons of interest, gang members, and sex offender registry He regularly conducts threat assessments for city businesses and houses of worship. As part of his assessments, he created extensive reports to report back his findings for each of these entities.

Doug has worked extensively with the citizens of the community and Baltimore businesses, non-profits, and faith-based organizations. He has been the foremost developer and presenter of Active Shooter training among several Law Enforcement Departments. He is a sought-after exercise facilitator as he safely guides participants in what to do, what to watch for (situational awareness) and how to minimize personal and material damage.

Before he became a Detective and police officer, Doug served in the Army National Guard as an Infantry Officer. He has served as an instructor at both the Baltimore City Police Academy and the Baltimore School Police Academy on topics related to both foreign and domestic terrorism.